Bullet Broadcast Will Feature Election Returns

Mary Estes Elected New YWCA Prexy

Mary Estes

Mary Frances Estes has been elected president of Y. W. C. A. for the coming year of 1939-1940. Mary has been an outstanding student on the hill ever since her entrance as a humble freshman. She has worked on Y. W. for the past three years, this year serving as Freshman Commissioner.

Mary Estes has all the personal qualities that make an excellent leader. She was one of the six runner-ups for the title of Ideal Girl and was also voted one of the six most outstanding girls in the college in a very recent election.

The Bulletin staff extends congratulations to the personable Mary Estes and wishes her a most successful year as Y. W. President.

One Man Skit Entertains Frosh

Last Tuesday's chapel held up the newly established tradition of affording the audience true entertainment. Mr. Weiss proved to be an infinite source of amusement with his one-man skit about three ambitious girls, who, at first, just sat and sewed and sighed, "Oh dear!"

Home Ec. Dept. Recently Renovated

New Home Ec.

Instructor
Supervises Changes

Under the very able supervision of Miss Harrison many renovations have taken place in our Home Economics department. Miss Harrison herself is a new-comer to our campus and we wish to formally welcome her to our faculty. Everyone who has met her is just as delighted as the department to have her with us. She was formerly at William and Mary College in Williamsburg as the head of the Home Economics Department, which position she now holds here.

Ford V-8 Purchased

The Home Economics Department is now the proud owner of a new Ford V-8. It was purchased primarily for the use of the practice teachers in transporting them to Lady Smith, Va., where they do their practice teaching. The first group of girls who went down had to go in the college pick-up truck.

Modern Cottage

The practice teachers have their own cottage close to the high school in Lady Smith. It is modernly furnished and consists of four rooms, kitchen, living room, dining room, bedroom, and bath. The cottage is taken care of by the high school students who are taught in the house.

Teachers Visit

The practice teachers visit the homes of the girl students in order to discuss the fine points of their subject and to help them in any way they can. The class is divided into groups with the two practice teachers as supervisors. The girls are definitely on their own except for consultations held, when necessary, with Miss Harrison and Miss Peak, supervisor of the high school home economics department.

Miss Wells Added To Staff

On Monday a new addition was made to the commercial staff of our school. Due to the serious illness of her mother, Miss Rucker has left school for the remainder of the session. Her classes have been taken over by Mrs. Josephine M. Wells who was graduated from Appalachia High School and entered this college in 1929. She was graduated in 1932, taking her degree in three years. Since that time Mrs. Wells has taught in Coeburn, Big Stone Gap, Bristol, and Norton, her home town. She was teaching there when she was married. This summer she will complete the work and thesis for her Master's Degree at the University of Tennessee in Knoxville.

When she was asked about the changes that have taken place since her graduation she exclaimed, "Changed! My goodness, they have the campus all dressed up!" "But really," she continued, "I have seen it from time to time and the only big surprises were the new administration building and the remodeling of Chandler Hall."

Mrs. Wells will have three classes of shorthand and two classes of typing until June. We are glad to have you, Mrs. Wells, and we hope that you will enjoy being with us.

Convocation Speaker Describes Manager Work

Securely holding the attention of the audience for the entire length of Wednesday's Convocation, Miss Ann Gregory imported an interesting account of her work as manager of Thalhimer's shopping service. Miss Gregory, sister of MWC's well-known "Cile", vividly portrayed different phases of the work in her department—an ordinary day's routine, the mad rush at Christmas time. She also read three letters, typical of the great quantities received daily in the prominent Richmond department store. The speaker told of various athletics carried on within the store and in many ways proved her opinion that department store work is the most interesting occupation.

Convocation was under the direction of Pi Omega Pi, which is headed by Ruth Curkin and sponsored by Miss Thompkins.

Calling All Students and Prof's.

A week ago tonight "The Warrior's Husband" was presented in the college auditorium. It was the funniest, the cleverest and one of the best acted plays put on by the Dramatic Club in the last four years.

All those who saw it raved about it. All those who didn't see it wished they had.

"The Warrior's Husband" is to be presented again next Thursday evening. Many people who saw it last week are going to see it again. That's how good it was. There is no doubt but what the majority of those that missed it are going to correct their mistake by being present when the curtain goes up Thursday.

Take it from all those who attended the first production. "It's a riot!" The "Bulletin" guarantees you an evening of delightful entertainment. It stands back of this production 100%.

You'll regret it the rest of your life if you don't see "The Warrior's Husband"!

The Bullet,
Mary Washington College,
Fredericksburg, Virginia.

Dear Editor:

In the February 10th issue of the Bullet a letter signed "An Alumni '38" came to my attention. I heartily endorse her many splendid suggestions.

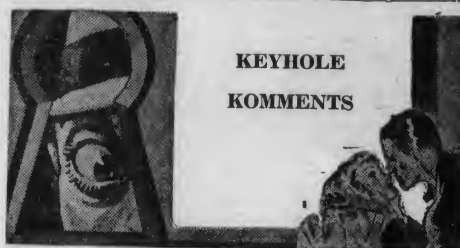

One way to keep in close contact with Mary Washington College and to know what is going on in the way of improvements is to be an active member of the Alumnae Association. The only way in which we can become a "well-organized active, alumnae association" is to actively support the organization which we now have. And by active support I mean payment of dues to Miss Elsie Goodloe, Fredericksburg, Virginia, — $1.00 a year or $5.00 for a life membership; attendance at all business meetings; participation in all activities such as the Thanksgiving Luncheon held in Richmond, and Commencement exercises; and whole-hearted support for a full time Alumnae Secretary.

Our paid-up members this year will receive a new bulletin several times a year in which items of interest about the college as well as the Association are mentioned. We also have a roster of all paid-up members made out yearly. This roster gives changes of address, marriages, etc.

THREE CHEERS for the suggestion regarding a paid secretary! Again, may I mention the fact that this would be easily possible if all our graduates paid their membership dues.

Very sincerely yours,

Clara Boyd Wheeler,
President Alumnae Association.

KEYHOLE KOMMENTS

Martha Lee seemed very happy about the whole thing Sunday. Maybe that was her O. A. O.

Leonard Cox was on the hill again Sunday night. You just can't keep him away from the school.

Quite a few town boys were up over the week-end. Of course, Jimmy Ventura was here, as well as Peter Bance, Phil Leary, Jimmy Gourley, and some more of the college stand-bys.

Dot Vernon spent the week-end in Orange. Oh yes, Louis went to Orange, too—but that was to be expected.

Emma Ruth trucked on home to Emporia and Eugene. How has she stood, not seeing him for a couple weeks?

Otley was a week-end visitor. From all reports her old love still seems to be heading the list.

Fried chicken on Sunday is enough to win the way to any young girl's heart—especially when a nice young man goes along with it. Wonder what Ethyl Twiford thinks about the situation.

Anderson's true love was here again Saturday and Sunday. When it gets to be a regular week-end occurrence, that's the time to begin getting worried. And I DO mean Anderson.

Beware the Ides of March!! 'Twas told to me once that girls are the ugliest during the month of March and the prettiest during June. So hurry on June!!

Yes! yes! As usual Winnie Hudson and Brooksie were cute girls with the Blacksburg "kadets" "Gus and Al" here on Sunday.

Among the other loves on the hill Sunday were Richard and Withers. Now don't tell me you didn't see the smiles and hear the whispers of Elizabeth Evans and Charlotte Hall, all day Saturday!

What's the meaning of your trip out of town last week-end, Mary Lawrence? Somebody merely whispered to me that you went to "pick out or up" a dress for the wedding! Notice I didn't say whose wedding!!

Listen you see girls who have interests at Virginia—see Sophia Eiseaman and read the poem as to how "we" Mary Washington girls stand!! I'd just say "all right". "M. N." Smith — we saw you Sunday night—but we thought Leonard was spoken for. Or maybe that just doesn't count these days!

Marjorie Smith, why don't you start an escort service for the german. You're doing pretty well so far!

Janice West, of Vineland, N. J., went home over the past week-end and seemed to keep all the "home-town boys" in a whirl. I guess she or even they can't wait until Easter. More power to you, gal!

"While the cat's away the mice will play," but the cat came back too soon, didn't she Jean Downes and Honey Henderson.

Mary Black is starting something new in paper dolls; a "quadripus" and a "troctopus". Go up to 342 F. W. and see them some time.

What does Eva Mittelmeier do with what-nots from Richmond. At least it proves that he hasn't forgotten her even tho she does visit her roommate, N. B. Dixon and forget him.

Welcome home Miss Turman, we're glad to have you back again!

Dot Payne, we've heard you had an enormous appetite but we didn't think you were goat enough to eat pencil tops

Martha Anne Miller, just how did you get to know so many boys from Washington? We thought you were fresh from Indiana.

Well Piney, you might wear something of your's to W. and M. this week-end. After all you'd like him to recognize you.

So Betty Morrisette trucks on home on accounts because she has the "flew". Isn't it peculiar how soon one regains one's health when one of the Jones boys shows up.

Flowers to Mr. Weiss! A certain young freshman thinks Mr. Weiss is soooo fascinating! In fact, she has been over-heard saying he is the ideal man! Well! well?

Really Bapple, entertaining on week nights! You seem to take care of "Doc" quite well, — or does he take care of you?

Kay of 313 F. W. would give her best for a letter, from Harry!

Popular demand returns "Warrior's Husband" for another performance Thursday, the 9th, so runs the gossip's gab.

Thesis and Antiope quarreled. Thesis' birthday was unintentionally ignored by "his" "love", so, although the tiff is slight, Thesis is nursing an injured ego.

Well, Sarie Dodd you certainly fell hard and fast for that "mental telepathy". Try some of it in class sometime!

Mary Dryden, how is the possible visit to or from Alabama coming along.

Miss Frances Fisher is going home again. What? so soon? Is it Randolph or Wilmer?

Mary Halliburton has a hard time deciding whether her O and O is Mo, George, Wimpy or Bob, a Midshipman of the U. S. N. A.

Interesting Personalities

Barbara Apple

This week my Interesting Personality is one of our fair lasses, but not from the United States this time, but from Guatemala, Central America: Miss Helen Heyl. Born in Spanish Honduras, Helen has lived in Guatemala, Columbia, South America, Cuba, Costa Rica, and the United States. "I have traveled an awful lot," she said, "from the time I was six weeks old, when I first came up to the States. I've had all my high school education in the U. S. Two years in New Orleans and two years in Asbury Park, N. J. I attended grammar school in Guatemala and in Columbia. I've been in the U. S., now, for 5 years."

"How do you like the United States?" I asked. "Oh, I like it a great deal, but I get awfully restless for home," she added. "You know the saying 'Home Sweet Home'. What I like about the U. S. is that every bit of it is different. I've traveled a great deal in the South and East, but haven't been in the west. We travel mostly by ship and train."

"I suppose you wonder why I have lived in all these different places. Father's work is the United Fruit Company, which deals with the cultivation and exportation of bananas. And so there is much need for him to travel around."

"I've been through two revolutions," she continued. "One in Spanish Honduras and the other in Guatemala. Both were over presidential elections. They are very common down in the Spanish countries."

"Guatemala is a modern city of Spanish architecture with all modern conveniences. We have all sports down there except football and, of course, ice hockey. We have all sports hi-l teams, baseball, soccer, basketball, horsebackriding, and hiking. Hiking is a great sport down there because of the mine ruins and the old monasteries."

Helen has spoken Spanish and English all of her life and can understand Italian and French. Her father's position has given her opportunity to meet many writers. Among them are: Capt. George Grant, writer for The Saturday Evening Post, Thomas Gill, Edna Ferguson, and many men from Smithsonian and Carnegie Institute, who make expeditions down there in search of diseases.

"Life in Bananera, United Fruit Company's headquarters is very similar to American living. We have our own social groups, dances, parties, etc. Here is something I think every girl up here would be interested in: to every girl down there, there are about 10 or 15 boys. We have a beautiful outdoor swimming pool, from which we can see the mountains. We have a golf course on which there are natural formed traps. There are no roads in Bananera because of the swamps. The cars travel on the railroad tracks, subject to daily planned schedules for the trains and cars. There are gorgeous palms, tropical palms, coconut palms and orchids growing wild in the jungles very close to us."

"The section around us is most historical as far as mining civilizations are concerned. It is in the heart of the old Maya and Aztec civilizations and the old ruins are continually being explored by men from Carnegie Institute. These ruins are truly beautiful."

When I asked what sports she liked, she replied, "I love all outdoor sports, horseback riding, swimming, and hiking. Golf is a very popular sport down there and we play as many as four or five rounds a day. Recently bowling alleys have been built and now that is the popular night sport."

Scenes From "The Warrior's Husband"

"Warrior's Husband" Presented Again By Popular Demand

Great performance of "The Warrior's Husband" last week! Still a chance to see the funniest play to hit the campus in years—Thursday night—in the Auditorium. All the girls do a grand job of acting. Sara Dodd, Kitty Roberts, Dot Harrington, Mary Lou Wilcox and Jane Beatty will keep the audience in shrieks of laughter the entire evening.

Kitty Roberts as the sweet, pure, dainty husband—who by the way is the best flirt in the land of the Amazons, wears a style head dress that in all probability will never be adopted by the men in our country, but it does become the role she plays.

Henrietta Roberts, "Herey" to you, but Hercules to the unfortunate people who will miss this looks divine in a leopard skin and beard. Last Friday they almost had to carry the home Ec. majors out—they got so tickled just looking at Henny, their pride and joy.

Dot Harrington makes a grand Hepallata. Being Queen of the Amazon's her husband's discussion of clothing and hair do's bore her.

Sara Dodd is delightful as Antiope, the Amazon Princess who falls in love with one of the Greek invaders, Mary Jane Betty. Mary Jane really "carries" Sara away! Mary Lou Wilcox is a series of laughs. — But then those of you who saw this play know all this and those of you who are going will know it, and as for the others well—we warned 'em not to miss it—so it's their tough luck.

One in every six evening college students at the University of Cincinnati is a college graduate.

Dot Harrington Turns Model

Art instructor Mr. Schnellcock is going to paint Miss Dorothy Harrington's picture in the stunning red costume she wore as Queen Hippolyta in "Warrior's Husband," so rumor says. Congrats, Dotty, we're proud of you!

St. Mary's University (San Antonio) is sponsoring student trips to the world's fairs this summer.

Miss Jo Chapman is the men's basketball coach at Martin College.

Basketball

With the Freshman-Sophomore game Tuesday night, the intramural basketball season was brought to a close. In perhaps what turned out to be the best game of the season, the Frosh defeated the Sophs, 27-19.

At the close of the first half, the Frosh were decidedly in the lead. But the Sophs returned to the game with what seemed to be a renewed vigor. Not only did they tie the score, but they also took the lead from the yearlings. However, the Freshmen collected themselves and recovered the lead. With the close of the season, the Freshmen were acclaimed the undisputed champions for 1939. The new champions are undefeated in their three class games. Our congratulations are extended to you, Champs.

It would be extremely hard to pick out a single first string line-up, the whole squad is tops! In simple words, Freshmen, we all think you are pretty swell!

Even though class games are over, one of the best games of the year is yet to be played in the gym tomorrow night. What? The Devil-Goat classic. The game is scheduled to be played at 7:30. I have been asked to announce that preceding the feature event, the tumbling class will put on an exhibition. This preliminary is to start at 7. What could be a more entertaining program for a Saturday evening on the hill? The seating capacity is limited so I would advise that you come over early. That old saying of "First Come, First Served" will hold its own.

Swimming

How many of you witnessed the swimming meet last nite? I have not heard the final results but it was pretty swell, wasn't it? Those of you who failed to see this one will have another opportunity to do so next week when the second of these meets will be held on March 10. The officials for last night's meet were members of the Coaching class which has emphasized the importance of good officiating.

Spring Sports

The managers of the spring sports have been buzzing around—making plans for the approaching spring season. This is March now so warm weather is nearing our threshold. As I passed the gym the other night, I noticed that several of the girls were already practicing up on their tennis. When spring is once intimated, the girls just can't leave the old racquets on the shelves any longer. It won't be long before these enthusiastic girls will be out on the tennis court, playing to their heart's content.

Spring may be approaching—but that's nothing, tests are too. So I guess I had better come back to earth and get down to work. Anyway, I hope to see you all in the gym tomorrow night—it will be a real event.

HAIR DO-S SOCIETY

The stylists for the "spring coiffures" have promised that the hair will be shorter (oh dear!) and with an upward swing about the face.

Now don't be alarmed—it won't be as short as the "up-do"—just a sort of compromise between it and the still popular page boy bob. To meet the new mode and still have soft curls on your neck your hair should be about three and one-half inches long—this makes the curls easier to comb and then they don't insist upon coming out so soon. You may wrinkle your brow upon hearing "short hair" but then why not—you must admit it is most practical, so youthful, very becoming and oh! so much more easy to handle!

Your curls can either be flat or soft ringlets—of course, depending on the contours of your face and your own personal choice. Flat rolls of curls and soft ringlets produce a softening effect and this effect is further pronounced by swirls around the ears and at the back of the head.

Girls! don't forget your wide velvet bows—placed at the becoming angles over your head! They give you that "little-girl-look" which is so prevalent this spring—and by they way, they add even more to your "little-girl" spring costume.

Some of you older girls may even be tempted to come out with bangs—but be careful! There are only certain types of faces which will permit this.

The girl with olive skin, straight features and dark, dark hair will surely demand notice if she steps forth with a madonna-like halo.

Here's to you, chilluns, and in your "few" spare minutes bother yourself with some experiments before Spring is officially here.

WILLOWS AND SPRING

I like to see the willows as they stand,
Some tall, alert, drinking in the sunlight
Others, bending lazily over the lake.

Dreaming and whispering together,
Gazing at their slim selves, reflected in

The blue-green lake below.
Sweatearts wind through hidden green-turfed paths,

Alive and dreamy like the bending boughs above.

They will picnic by the lake today,

While I alone, but never lonely,
Will tell my dreams and secrets

To my listening willow boughs.
